

Hardee Fresh, Florida, to Break Ground on New Sumter Facility, Creates 84 Jobs

Americus, GA – March 10, 2021 - Hardee Fresh, a producer of indoor, organic, vertical farmgrown, USDA-certified organic vegetables, plans to invest $42 million in a new facility adjacent to the Jimmy Carter Regional Airport. The Americus facility is now known as Americus Fresh and will grow, pack, and ship from the here, employing a minimum of 84 mid-salary jobs. The new Americus building will represent the company's first Georgia location, and its strategic location will play a critical role in reaching customers throughout the Southeast and U.S.

"Premium organic, plus fresh, is the optimal way to grow food," said Rusty Warner, Executive Director of the Sumter County Development Authority. "We are thrilled Hardee Fresh chose Americus and Sumter County for the location of its state-of-the-art bio-grow facility. We appreciate Hardee Fresh's significant investment in our community and look forward to a longterm partnership! Americus Fresh will be a perfect fit."

"Americus Fresh will be a significant base to our existing Sumter businesses and with our farmers, stated Paul Hall, Authority chairman. They offer Sumter County an opportunity to expand our advanced manufacturing industry, offering higher than average pay--a much-needed element for a new workforce."
